Repository:	Simon Fraser University Archives and Records Management Department
Title:	Apiculture (beekeeping) collection
ID:	F-110
Date:	[after 1898] - [200-] (date of creation)
Physical description:	1.87 m of textual records 120 photographs 7 film reels
Dates of creation, revision and deletion:	Finding aid prepared by Richard Dancy, Frances Fournier, Enid Britt (April 2001). Finding aid reprinted September 2005. Updated by Enid Britt (April 2006). Accrual added by Rita Mogyorosi (September 2014). Series 4 (Journals) deaccessioned by Rita Mogyorosi (October 2014). Minor accrual processed to sub-series 1-2 by Rita Mogyorosi (August 2015).
Note [generalNote]:	Financial assistance for the arrangement and description of the records and production of the finding aid was generously provided by Mark Winston, Professor SFU Department Of Biological Sciences (March 2001); the SFU Department Of Biological Sciences (March 2001); and the SFU Faculty Of Science (April 2001).

Custodial history

Material was originally collected and donated to the Archives by a number of individuals, including former British Columbia Provincial Apiarist John Corner; Ministry apicultural specialist John Gates; British Columbia Honey Producers Association members John Boone, Grace Fuhr, and Doug McCutcheon; and SFU faculty member Mark Winston (Department of Biological Sciences). Subsequent accessions were donated to the SFU Archives by the Association's John Boone (between 2007 and 2012), Doug McCutcheon (in 2006, 2008, and 2011), and Mark Winston (2015).

Scope and content

---

The Apiculture (beekeeping) collection is an artificial grouping of documentary materials relating to the methods, science and culture of beekeeping. The collection was established by the SFU Archives as a complement to its other holdings relating to apiculture, such as the fonds of the British Columbia Honey Producers' Association (F-147), and the papers of SFU faculty member Mark Winston (F-174). The collection consists of publications, conference proceedings, minutes, correspondence, photographs, and moving images. Material includes government publications, correspondence and registers of provincial beekeepers in British Columbia; published research articles, presentations and reports; course outlines and course material relating to the Bee Masters program and honey judging in British Columbia; photographs of various BC beekeeping activities and personalities; copies of meeting minutes and other records of various beekeeping associations in British Columbia and Canada; moving images featuring beekeeping activities and topics; and various subject files relating to the history of beekeeping in BC.

Notes

Title notes

- Source of title proper: Title of the collection is based on the contents of the material.

Arrangement

As an artificial collection, the material had no original order. Arrangement was created by the archivist to facilitate intellectual access and is based on type of document (for publications and special media), provenance (of minutes and correspondence), or subject (for collected materials on various topics and activities).

Due to the volume of records from an accrual added in 2014 (accessions 2012-001 and 2012-042), several sub-series were created by the processing archivist to facilitate intellectual access to the documents in series 1 (Association records), 2 (Educational programs, training, and conferences) and 3 (Government publications, reports, correspondence). A new series 7 (Subject files) was also created. Series 4 (Journals) was deaccessioned in October 2014.

Restrictions on access

Some files may contain personal or confidential information. Files marked "pending review" must be reviewed by an archivist prior to release and, as a result of the review, access restrictions may apply. Please see the file lists and consult the reference archivist for more details.

Copyright subsists in all or some of the records. Generally, the university is the copyright owner only to works that the donor authored. Please consult the reference archivist for details about the use of copyrighted materials.

Accruals

All accessions have been processed as of August 2015. Further accruals are expected.

Other notes

- Publication status: published
- Level of detail: Full
- Status description: Revised

Series descriptions

Series F-110-1: Association records

Date: ca. 1922, 1952 - 2005 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Series primarily comprises copies of records created by a number of associations currently or formerly active in the field of beekeeping. Records consist of association constitutions, meeting minutes, proceedings, newsletters, correspondence, and other documents.

Series is arranged into 6 sub-series:

1. British Columbia Commercial Beekeepers Association
2. Canadian Association of Professional Apiculturalists
3. Canadian Beekeepers' Council
4. Fraser Valley Pollinators' Association
5. Provincial Apiarists' Association
6. Other associations

Physical description: 78.5 cm of textual records

Arrangement:

The arrangement for the series and sub-series was provided by the archivist. Unless otherwise indicated, files are arranged chronologically within each sub-series. As a result of an accrual added in 2014 (accession 2012-001), an additional sub-series was created by the processing archivist to facilitate intellectual access to the documents: F-110-1-6 (Other associations).

Subseries F-110-1-1: British Columbia Commercial Beekeepers Association

Date: 1965 - [197-] (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Sub-series primarily comprises copies of records of the annual meetings of the British Columbia Commercial Beekeepers Association. The Association was established around 1962 as an organization of individuals who draw their livelihood primarily from beekeeping or the sale of its products. Its objectives were to promote and develop markets and marketing methods for apiary products, inform members of developments in apiculture research, and participate in the Canadian Beekeepers' Council. The Association appears to have maintained a close relationship with the British Columbia Honey Producers' Association. It disbanded around 1980. Records in this sub-series consist of the Association's constitution, annual meeting minutes, newsletters, and original letterhead.

Subseries F-110-1-2: Canadian Association of Professional Apiculturalists

Date: 1959 - 2005 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Sub-series comprises copies of records of the annual meetings of the Canadian Association of Professional Apiculturalists. The organization began as the Canadian Association of Apiarists but registered as a professional association in 1975 and changed its name to the current form in that year. It continues as an active organization. The Association promotes cooperation among professional apiculturalists working in agricultural administration, extension or research. Its members generally are employed by federal or provincial governments or universities. The Association maintains a consultative role in relation to the Canadian Honey Council and acts as a liaison with apiculturalists in other countries. Records in this sub-series consist of minutes and proceedings.

Subseries F-110-1-5: Provincial Apiarists' Association

Date: 1952 - 1959 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Sub-series comprises copies of records of the meetings of the Provincial Apiarists' Association. The Association was established in 1952 as an organization of government apiary officials employed in provincial departments and ministries across Canada. It aimed to promote the scientific and practical efficiency of beekeeping, disseminate progressive ideas relating to apiculture, and secure cooperation among apiculturalists working in the country. The current status of the Association is not known. Records consist of proceedings of the Association's meetings in 1952 and 1958 and a 1959 report.

Subseries F-110-2-2: Bee Masters Program

Date: 1955 - 2003 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Sub-series comprises material relating to the Bee Masters program. Bee Masters is an intensive course in advanced beekeeping sponsored by the British Columbia ministry responsible for agriculture. The first course was held in 1955. Since around 1986, it has been held at Simon Fraser University and offered jointly by the BC government and SFU's Department of Biological Sciences. Early courses were lengthier to include a field trip to a beekeeping location, while later courses dropped the field trip component and thus shortened to five days in length. Documents include the first written examinations from 1955 and 1958, course outlines, lectures, articles, participant and speakers lists, evaluations, forms, correspondence, pamphlets, and other course material.

Subseries F-110-2-3: Honey judging

Date: 1966 - 2001 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Sub-series comprises originals and copies of material relating to the history of honey judging and the courses developed to train honey judges in British Columbia. The need for honey judges grew out of the desire to promote honey and its uses at various exhibitions in BC, and in particular the Pacific National Exhibition at Vancouver and the Interior Provincial Exhibition at Armstrong. As early as the 1920s, a score card was developed to rank honey on a standardized scale and was used into the 1950s. The Canadian Beekeepers Council, established in the 1940s, also developed a score card allowing for the judging of honey at a national level. By the mid-1960s in BC, there was a demand for formally-trained honey judges, and a one day course was held in 1966 to teach, test, and certify the first group. Additional courses followed in 1975 and the 1980s. Certified honey judges continue to be an important part of exhibitions. Records include course materials, forms, notes, scoring sheets, correspondence, and other documents.

Series F-110-3: Government publications, reports, correspondence

Date: 1915 - 1997 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Series comprises publications, reports and correspondence of government departments and programs responsible for apiculture in their jurisdiction. Government departments represented primarily include the Department or Ministry of Agriculture for British Columbia, but also Canada, Ontario, and the United States. For types of records, see sub-series descriptions.

Series is arranged into 6 sub-series:

1. British Columbia - beekeeper registers
2. British Columbia - correspondence
3. British Columbia - newsletters

4. British Columbia - publications and forms
5. British Columbia - reports
6. Other governments

Arrangement:

The arrangement for the series and sub-series was provided by the archivist. Due to the volume of records from an accrual added in 2014 (accessions 2012-001 and 2012-042), six sub-series were created by the processing archivist to facilitate intellectual access to the documents: F-110-3-1 through F-110-3-6. The new sub-series were arranged alphabetically. The original and accrual files were then chronologically integrated into the new sub-series, with the exception of the final sub-series which is arranged alphabetically.
