Principles of Macroeconomics

Economics 105

Section: D200

Term: 2011 Fall

Instructor: R. Harris

Discussion Topics:

The purpose of this introductory course in macroeconomics is to give students a thorough understanding of the principles of economics that apply to an economic system as a whole at the national and global level. This course places particular emphasis on the study of national income, price-level determination, the business cycle, interest rates, inflation and unemployment. In addition the course will deal with links between the financial and real economies, long run economic growth, and international economic linkages.

Grading:

Marking will be based on classroom iClicker participation, online quizzes and assignments, tutorial participation, one midterm and one final exam.   The grade distribution weights are as follows.
